Woodstock '94 Gets Green Light

Woodstock Ventures Inc. has finally been granted all the needed permits for their 25th anniversary reprise of the landmark festival. Ulster County, N.Y., officials approved a mass gathering permit April 8th, which came after intense negotiations over sanitation, environmental impact, and cleanup after the concert. The permit for the concert, which is scheduled for the weekend of August 12-14, contains an agreement that gives the upstate New York community of Saugerties $4 per ticket and limits the attendance to 250,000. Michael Lang, John Roberts and Joel Rosenman of Woodstock Ventures, who were the driving forces behind the 1969 festival, expect to feature approximately 30 acts, but official announcement of the lineup has yet to be made. Sources close to the negotiations report that many of the major acts considered would not sign final agreements until they were certain the concert was going to become a reality. With the granting of the permits and the reported support of John Scher and PolyGram, it seems that everything is falling into place. Aerosmith is reportedly close to inking their deal to perform at the show, and Soundgarden, Peter Gabriel, Alice in Chains, Guns N' Roses, Nine Inch Nails, Stone Temple Pilots, the Red Hot Chili Peppers and R.E.M. are among the acts rumored to be on the bill. A spokesperson for Woodstock Ventures said the announcement of the lineup could be released as early as this week. Meanwhile, in Bethel, N.Y., Sid Bernstein continues with his rival concert, tentatively scheduled for the same weekend as "Woodstock '94." Bernstein has announced Judy Collins, John Sebastian, Richie Havens, Melanie and Tom Paxton as his lineup to date. "Bethel '94," which is being geared toward the now 40 something audience which attended the '69 festival, will be held on the site of the original festival and it aims to attract 80,000 people. Bernstein is involved in obtaining final permits for "Bethel '94," and he plans on signing a few more acts to attract a younger audience now that he has finalized his nostalgic lineup.

Grand Juries Continue In Michael Jackson Case

A report on the television tabloid show "Hard Copy" last week that claimed the criminal investigations into sexual molestation accusations against Michael Jackson had ended were adamantly denied by the District Attorney's offices in both Los Angeles and Santa Barbara counties. Los Angeles D.A. Gil Garcetti said that he expects to reach a decision as to whether or not to file charges against MJ by the end of this month. And Santa Barbara D.A. Thomas Sneddon Jr. said he gave permission to continue the grand jury beyond its original 90-day session. Sneddon did not say when he expected to wrap up the investigation, but he did say that the conclusions of both counties' investigations would be released at the same time, in fairness to all concerned.

Dan Hicks Offers His Personal Hot Lick

Dan Hicks exposed himself during a concert April 11th at the Newport Performing Arts Center in Newport, Oregon. Hicks appeared intoxicated and got into an obscene verbal exchange with audience members, according to an eyewitness at the concert. About halfway through his first song, Hicks stopped the show, walked to the front of the stage, whipped it out, and then walked off stage. Hicks' agent, Geoffrey Blumenauer, said that . . . . . (Continued Page 5)

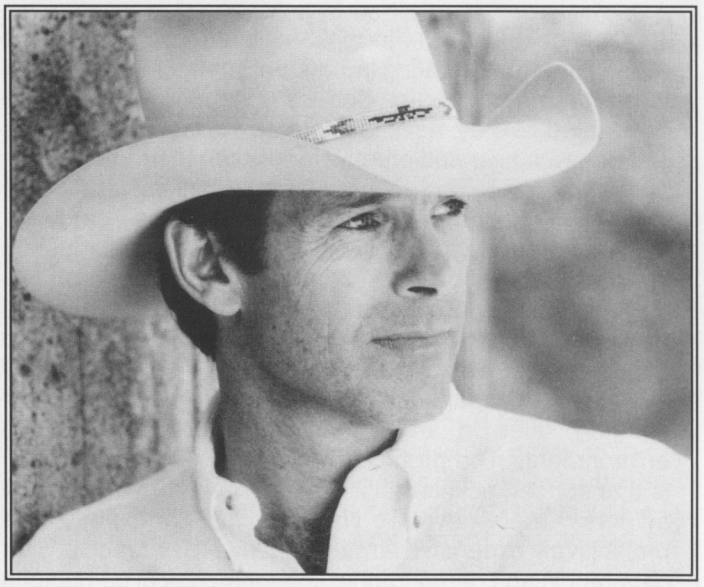
CHRIS LeDOUX



Chris LeDoux may be relatively new to mainstream country music, but this champion of the rodeo had released 22 independent albums on cassette before stepping out of the saddle and into the world of major label country music. LeDoux said he got his first guitar around the same time he started getting on bucking horses. "Eventually I started writing songs about rodeo. I loved the sport so much I had to figure out some way to express it," LeDoux told POLLSTAR. When LeDoux married in 1972, he decided to put some of his songs on tape, attempting to earn a little extra income. "I didn't mind starvin', but I didn't want my wife to starve with me." LeDoux said his parents started a mail order business to get the tapes distributed. "I owe them a lot for that."

LeDoux won the Bareback Bronc World Championship in 1976, but eventually his rodeo career dwindled and he got involved in ranching in Wyoming. "That wasn't very lucrative either. We bought the ranch a little bit before I quit rodeoing, back about '78. We lived on the edge of bankruptcy for about 12 years with that." But LeDoux persevered, dividing his time between wrangling sheep and writing music. "I just kept writin' songs, and makin' albums and eventually our fan base built up over the years.

"And then a guy named Garth Brooks came along and mentioned something about [listening to] one of those worn out tapes [in his song "Much To Young (To Feel This Damn Old)"]. Then things really started movin'. [But] no one had ever heard of Garth Brooks, he was just some guy out of Oklahoma. Little did the world know this guy was going to explode all over the place." LeDoux said that if his career hadn't been affected by the mention in Brooks' song, he would have still been satisfied. "It's just nice to know that all the years I'd put into makin' music that at some point it had touched somebody."

In the meantime, Western Merchandisers had gotten involved in the distribution loop for LeDoux's indie label, American Cowboy Songs, and had sold nearly $4 million worth of his cassettes. Someone from Liberty Records told label prexy, Jimmy Bowen, "Man there's a cowboy out there selling lots of records [and] someone needs to sign him," which is exactly what Liberty did.

It has been roughly four years since LeDoux signed with Liberty, and his ranch is finally paid for. "Everything has always come hard for me, and taken a long time. I'm glad things haven't come easy, or I probably wouldn't appreciate them." And LeDoux certainly appreciates having a permanent home to return to when he comes off the road. LeDoux's father retired a major in the Air Force and he has lived in Mississippi, New York, France, Pennsylvania and Texas. He said the traveling prepared him for his 150-days-a-year touring schedule, and having a place to call his own is important to him and his family. "You gotta have some rock to swim back to every once and a while."

Although he is on the road a lot, LeDoux's family — he has five children ranging in age from 11 to 21 — remains an integral part of his life and his career. "We're a unit. We do everything together." When summer time rolls around, LeDoux rents an extra bus and takes the entire family on the road with him. "I think it's a pretty good education for them. It's nice to get them out around the country and see how different people live, and realize that we're all people, and the only differences are that we may dress different or have a different accent." LeDoux used to book all his dates on the road, but after he signed with Liberty, he put Dan Wojcik at Entertainment Artists and T.K. Kimbrell at TKO Artist Management on his team. "It's made things a lot easier for us. Once and a while I kind of miss having that contact with the people we are puttin' on a show with. But it was just takin' too much of my time, having to sit at a desk when I should be writin' songs." LeDoux took a brief pause from his touring schedule to go into the studio in March. Now he is back on the road with a full schedule ahead of him. LeDoux said he will be playing all types of facilities. "If we were playin' nothin' but bars it would get tiresome. Or if we were playin' nothin' but the big concert halls, I'm sure that would get a little tiresome too."

LeDoux has released three albums since signing to Liberty, his most recent being Under This Old Hat. Liberty also re-released all 22 of his indie albums. His association with Garth Brooks was again brought to the public's eye when the two of them sang a Brooks-penned duet and it ended up the title cut of LeDoux's second Liberty release, Whatcha Gonna Do With a Cowboy. "I guess [Brooks] felt he couldn't sing it because he wasn't an actual cowboy." LeDoux's recorded music has been credited for helping break barriers between country and rock. But it was his live performances that motivated him to put the energy of rock into his western tunes. "I'd be standin' up there in one spot, singing my songs, and the crowd would be goin' nuts and havin' a great time. I wanted to be a part of that." So he wrote some songs that he felt had more punch and energy. "I wrote a song about ridin' bulls, and it's strictly straight ahead rock 'n' roll. Ridin' bulls is rock 'n' roll. It's nice to be able to do things now where you can take it from straight-ahead country ballads right up to a rock 'n' roll piece. You take people as far as you can, and then come back down to earth."

Does LeDoux ever miss the excitement or the rodeo? "I reminisce back on it, and think about how much fun it was. But no, I don't. I'm having as much fun now as I did back then. Now if I had a regular job that didn't have any thrill or excitement or adrenaline flow in it, I'm sure I'd really miss rodeoing." But LeDoux doesn't have a "regular job," though he seems to be a regular guy. And when all is said and done, he still has his cowboy life to return to. "Some day after the music career dwindles down, I'll probably ride off into the sunset and get totally involved in ranchin' again."

Guest Editorial

The boldness of thought exhibited by Meat Loaf's management in creating a national marketing campaign to promote record sales and an upcoming tour is to be applauded. They have boldly seized the initiative and developed a new and creative approach to promote Meat Loaf's career. But, while creative initiatives are a welcome change, the execution of this particular campaign appears to have fallen short of its desired goals.

The Meat Loaf campaign was driven and executed exclusively on a national level. The campaign sought to impose order on a collection of activities — the processes of promoting, agenting and distributing — in hopes of spurring sales in an increasingly difficult competitive environment. The problem, however, with this approach is that concert tickets must be sold market-by-market on a grass roots level. National ad campaigns are prohibitively expensive largely because they reach a wide geographic and demographic spectrum. Local campaigns should be used in conjunction with national marketing efforts because they are cost-effective and allow for "narrowcasting" to specific target audiences.

Like Meat Loaf's management, our industry needs to explore new ideas. We need to break the mold, create new concepts to retain and attract music audiences and formulate new strategies to market acts cost-effectively over the long haul. The main problems facing our industry today are the direct result of a lack of communication, cooperation and collaboration. Although music businesses solicit the exact same consumer, we seem unable to orchestrate our efforts on behalf of the exact same artist.

Incentivizing and linking the energy, talents and resources of promoters, labels, venues, vendors, agents and acts is a formidable task. Recognizing and understanding our shared goals and common objectives is a first step. Using that understanding as a launching pad, hopefully we can work together to build better paths to reach our customers and sustain artistic careers.

The "one-size-fits-all" philosophy assumes uniform results can be duplicated in a wide range of circumstances. Today's rapidly changing entertainment marketplace demands more than that. The long term health of our industry may depend upon our ability to achieve consensus, to develop a shared sense of purpose and mutual respect, and to find ways to creatively join our energies in pursuit of common goals. There are steps that can be taken to expand upon the Meat Loaf initiative:

1. Use technology as a tool. Since almost all touring businesses are computerized, the same information now available to a few should be freely shared with the many. Ticket sales, airplay, units shipped and sold, tour routing, and other database information can be pooled to improve decision-making and used to analyze the effectiveness of marketing strategies. More importantly, keeping key participants fully informed about the bigger picture will stimulate creative thinking and ensure that everyone involved learns of important developments on a timely basis.

2. Clarify objectives. Failure to involve promoters in the formulation of marketing strategies, as was the case with Meat Loaf, is short-sighted. Edicts which reduce promoters to the role of "order fulfillment" or financier are counter-productive. The specialized knowledge promoters have about their markets is a renewable resource untapped by many artists. Perhaps cross-functional teams, comprised of industry representatives from different areas of responsibility, can better address the challenges facing a national campaign. The synergy of new combinations of promoters, agents, retailers, label reps and act managers might generate interesting opportunities and innovative solutions.

3. Respect diversity. Meat Loaf's national campaign was based, in part, on the premise that a central and uniform marketing approach would be effective. Yet, local music markets have distinct conditions which vary considerably. Characteristics such as language, culture, history and airplay differentiate music consumers in Montreal, Memphis, Miami and Milwaukee. The inability to incorporate local concerns may be the reason that Meat Loaf's initial on-sale figures were disappointing in some markets. Targeting and motivating local music consumers requires sensitivity to local idiosyncracies. To maximize effectiveness, the national campaign should complement and be coordinated with local campaigns.

4. Designate a single point of contact. Someone has to answer questions and solve problems. A leadership role involves defining relationships and responsibilities so that the various participants work together simultaneously toward a similar set of related objectives. It also includes gathering and sharing ideas; monitoring, measuring and evaluating promotional campaigns as they unfold; critiquing, modifying and coordinating local efforts and providing a sense of immediacy to the various businesses involved.

Future initiatives should take into account that our industry is a mosaic of small businesses which possess a wide diversity of skills, views and expertise. Cutting across traditional lines of authority, harnessing those diverse interests and forging new marketing strategies is one of the most important challenges our industry faces in the 1990s.

One way to enhance the success of such future initiatives would be to undertake a team approach. When the key people involved — from the top down and bottom up — appreciate a project's objectives and enthusiastically embrace the value of communication, cooperation and collaboration, an important competitive advantage will be achieved for everyone.

Hicks, who had been on the wagon for nine years, had slipped in his recovery and was drinking that night. Blumenauer said it was an isolated incident. There were no charges brought against Hicks, but there have been complaints made to the police by some of the 150 people in attendance, questioning why no charges were filed. The incident remains under investigation.

Kurt Cobain

Kurt Cobain, 27, was found dead in an apartment over a detached garage at his Seattle home April 8th, a victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Cobain's body was discovered by an electrician who had gone there to work on the home's alarm system. There was a suicide note found near Cobain's body, as well as some personal effects, including his drivers license. The King County Medical Examiner's Office said April 11th that the investigation into Cobain's death had concluded that there was "nothing inconsistent with suicide." On April 14th the medical examiner's office announced that Cobain had been dead three days before his body was found. The coroner also said Cobain had taken heroin and valium the day he died. The last month of Cobain's life had been filled with signs that pointed to his suicidal state. Sources close to Cobain's wife, Courtney Love, had told POLLSTAR that the overdose in Rome early last month, which put the singer in a coma, had been a suicide attempt, complete with a note. But the official explanation given by Nirvana reps at the time was that Cobain had inadvertently overdosed on prescription medication and alcohol while suffering from the flu and fatigue. Last week, the L.A. Times reported that the nearly fatal Rome incident had in fact been a suicide attempt. During the weeks between Cobain's overdose in Rome and his death, Love had called the police out to their Seattle home claiming her husband was threatening suicide and was locked in a room with some guns. When police responded, Cobain insisted he was only trying to get away from his wife. And Love admitted to police that Cobain didn't actually threaten to kill himself. Police confiscated some firearms, but no one was taken into custody. A few weeks later, people close to Cobain reportedly participated in a drug intervention. Cobain had publicly talked about using drugs, specifically opiates and heroin, to "self-medicate" because of pain from a persistent stomach ailment. And Seattle police reported last week that Cobain had also overdosed on heroin in May 1993, and Love tried to treat him by injecting him with buprenorphine and giving him Valium, Benadryls and Tylenol with codeine. Nonetheless, the planned intervention was "successful" and Cobain checked into the drug treatment center at Daniel Freeman Hospital in Marina Del Rey, Calif. But then, although he could have just walked out the clinic's front door, Cobain jumped the fence and disappeared before apparently returning to Seattle. He was missing for nearly six days before his body was found. Love had hired a private investigator to try and find her husband. And Cobain's mother filed a missing persons report in Seattle, but neither the police or the P.I. could find him. Cobain's despair and suicidal states were a public part of his life. In addition to his stomach problems, Cobain suffered from extreme depression and had difficulty dealing with his celebrity status. Love said Cobain had tried traditional methods to deal with depression, including Prozac, but it was opiates that "made him feel best." At a candlelight vigil under the Space Needle April 10th thousands of fans gathered to mourn the loss of what some have called the spokesperson for teen-angst. He had already assumed a place in rock history as an artistic pioneer, and he will now forever hold a place as one of rocks greatest tragedies.

Tragedies In Love's Life

In what should have been the happiest time of her life, Courtney Love, lead singer of the rock group Hole, overdosed on heroin, was arrested and learned that her husband Kurt Cobain had put a shotgun to his head and killed himself. Love's major label debut on DGC, Live Through This, hit the stores last week and Geffen's publicity machine was in full force to support the release. The tragedies in Love's life eerily coincided with her appearances on the covers of many major publications including the L.A. Times Calendar section, and Spin and Creem magazines. Although her photos were plastered on the front pages of periodicals the weekend after Cobain's death, Love's actual whereabouts and the whereabouts of Frances Bean, the Cobains' 19-month-old daughter, seemed to be a mystery. But police in Los Angeles announced April 13th that Love had been taken from the posh Peninsula Hotel in Beverly Hills to a Century City Hospital because of an apparent heroin overdose the day before Cobain's body was found. Love, 29, was arrested later that day at the hospital and was booked for felony possession of a controlled substance, possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of stolen property. She was released after posting $10,000 bail later that same day. Love and Cobain had been concerned about losing custody of their daughter because of a run-in with child protective services after a Vanity Fair interview in which Love admitted to using heroin when she was pregnant. The Cobains later said that Love didn't know she was pregnant when she shot-up, and they were allowed to keep the child. After being released from jail, Love apparently returned to Seattle, where she made her first public appearance at a private memorial service for her husband April 10th. Love recorded a message that contained parts of Cobain's suicide note, and the message was played at the candlelight vigil held in his honor at Seattle Center. Love said she blames herself for her husbands death and apologized to his fans for not being able to do more to prevent it. With anger and sadness in her voice, Love read from the note: "I haven't felt the excitement for so many years. I felt guilty for so many years. The fact is I can't fool you, any one of you. The worst crime is faking it." Love interrupted her reading to inject her own views. "No, the worst crime is leaving," Love said. Cobain also quoted a line from a Neil Young song as part of his last words, "It's better to burn out than to fade away." But Love insisted, "Don't believe that. It's bullshit." Cobain reportedly had two uncles who committed suicide, and Love said her priority now is to make sure that their daughter, Frances Bean, breaks that deadly pattern. However, it is now clear that she has a more pressing problem. If convicted on the new drug charges, it is quite possible the courts will take the child away from her.

Viacom Considering Selling The Garden

Viacom Inc. is reportedly considering selling off part of its assets, including the Madison Square Garden complex, the New York Knicks basketball team, and the New York Rangers hockey team. The Wall Street Journal said such a sale could raise from $500 million up to $1 billion for the debt laden company. Viacom is looking to trim the debt incurred with the $10 billion acquisition of Paramount Communications, which may become necessary if its proposed merger with Blockbuster Entertainment Corp. falls through. Upper management at Blockbuster is obligated to support the merger agreement, however other shareholders have criticized the terms of the merger because the agreement calls for Blockbuster shareholders to receive Viacom stock and the value of that stock has dropped. It's said to be unlikely that Viacom would renegotiate with Blockbuster because a more generous deal would result in greater dilution of Viacom stock. Meanwhile, Nynex is reportedly considering making a bid to acquire the Garden and its two sports teams, although the regional telephone giant has publicly denied there are active talks on the subject.

A Day At The Beach With Candlebox

Warner Bros./Maverick recording artist Candlebox entertained 2,000 spring-breakers in San Felipe, Mexico at a temporary facility built directly on the beach. The March 26th concert was part of a spring break travel package (but the tequila was extra) presented by L.A. Ski & Sun Tours.

Legal Griefs

A copyright infringement suit against Michael Bolton, Warner/Chappell and Sony Music got underway April 11th in an attempt to determine if Bolton lifted his hit, "Love Is A Wonderful Thing," from the 1966 Isley Brothers' song with the same title. Bolton's song is said to include the same memorable title hook as the Isley's '66 hit. The case is being heard in Los Angeles federal court..... Percy Sledge pled guilty April 7th to three counts of tax evasion for not paying taxes on $260,000 in unreported income between 1987 and 1989. The IRS said Sledge could be sentenced for up to 15 years in prison and fined up to $750,000. He will also be liable for the back taxes, interest and may face civil penalties. Sledge had apparently failed to provide documents showing all of the money he earned for live performances..... A man who accused Bobby Brown and two of his bodyguards of beating him in 1992 at an Atlanta nightclub has dropped the charges without explanation. The three faced misdemeanor counts of battery and being a party to a crime. Brown's lawyer said "justice was done," and that the case had gotten "way out of hand."..... Shenandoah South Inc., owners of the Wayne Newton Theatre in Branson, Mo., have terminated

Wayne Newton's contract to perform at the venue, citing a dispute with his management. "We really regret this has happened and we don't want anyone to think we're enjoying this, but we've just been unable to communicate," said Jim Grundy, a spokesperson for the theatre's owners. Newton filed a $5 million lawsuit in February accusing the owners of mismanagement last season. The suit also claimed his reputation had been tarnished by his association with the theatre. A statement released by Newton on April 11th said that he was prepared to appear at the theatre later this month. "It is amazing to me that they accuse me of breaching our contract simply because I have asked a court to make them live up to the promises they made in that very same document," he said. Newton's lawyer said there could be further legal action. A judge could order theatre owners to honor the contract, he said. The theatre remains up for sale.

Garth Wows Hawkeye Country

Dr. David Grady, the University of Iowa's campus programs and student activities director, presents Garth Brooks with an outfit for his baby as thanks for his record three sold out performances as well the fastest ticket sale ever at the university's Carver Hawkeye Arena March 24-26.

Short Items Of Note

The new Pink Floyd album, The Division Bell, made by far the biggest sales debut of 1994. According to SoundScan, the album sold more than 465,000 copies in its first week out, which is more than all the other records in the top 5 combined..... Steve Earle was treated for minor injuries to his neck after he was involved in a traffic accident 35 miles west of Nashville. The singer's car reportedly struck the rear of a pickup truck on the morning of April 7th..... The Danny Elfman-led band formerly known as Oingo Boingo has now shortened its name to just Boingo. The group's first recording in four years is due for release May 17th on Giant Records..... After nine years of marriage, Billy Joel and Christie Brinkley have split. The couple released a joint statement last week that said they have been separated since Thanksgiving. Rumors of marital strife had been circulating for months..... Capricorn Records has made an exclusive distribution deal with RED. Capricorn comes to the Relativity distribution wing after the conclusion of its three-year joint venture with Warner Bros. Records, which helped Phil Walden re-launch the label in 1991. Among the artists on Capricorn's roster are Widespread Panic, Ian Moore, and The Freddy Jones Band..... Zoo Entertainment has closed its R&B promotion department and has folded its functions back into the label's existing staff. The move won't effect current radio priority Philip Bailey who will now have the entire Zoo promo machine working for him.

Arguments Conclude In George Michael vs. Sony

After six months of testimony, arguments in George Michael's restraint of trade suit against Sony Music have finally ended. It's now up to London High Court justice Jonathan Parker to pore over some 2.5 million words of testimony and issue a decision. That process could take weeks or even months. Michael's counsel argued that the contract he signed with Sony in 1988 is unenforceable because it essentially commits Michael to an unfair agreement with Sony for the rest of his career. Michael's camp charged that the 15-year contract doesn't give Michael a big enough cut in profits and that Sony provided poor marketing and promotion for his work. They also charged that Michael was treated like "software" and that his artistic judgement has been ignored since Sony bought his old label, CBS United Kingdom Ltd., in 1988. Michael's camp also charged that Listen Without Prejudice, an album in which Michael tried to stray from his teen idol image, was essentially sabotaged by Sony. Sony's attorneys said during the closing arguments that the label goes out of its way to help their artists, and that profits gained from long-term contracts were used to ensure the success of artists. Sony's lawyers painted Michael as a spoiled star who is trying to renege on a legally binding agreement. The decision the judge reaches could have a huge impact on the recording industry. A Michael victory would probably result in many artists pushing for contracts that allow more money and creative freedom, and long-term pacts could become a thing of the past. Court watchers generally think the evidence tilts in favor of Sony, since Michael came out on the losing end of several key procedural points.

Change Of Venue

The projected grand opening date for the Connecticut Centre For The Performing Arts, a proposed 30,000 seat amphitheater in Hartford, has been pushed back to the first half of 1995. Originally, Metropolitan Entertainment and the Nederlander Organization had hoped to open the venue this fall, but the amphitheatre is facing a legal challenge from the Oakdale Musical Theatre. Oakdale reps contend the new shed would drive them out of business..... San Francisco Board of Supervisors president Angela Alioto has asked managers of city-owned Candlestick Park to remove three Marlboro cigarette billboards from the stadium, even though Philip Morris Co. has three years remaining on its contract. "The fact that cigarette advertising has been banned in most places where children are captive audiences suggests that we should do no less for those visiting Candlestick," Alioto said. A PM spokesperson said they expect the city to honor the terms of the contract..... The 1,994-seat Charley Pride Theatre, Branson's newest concert venue, will open its doors on June 1st. Pride will headline 222 matinee and evening performances through mid-December at the theatre, which cost $12 million to build. Don Williams will headline 134 day and evening shows, with Barbara Fairchild opening. Fairchild also will present a daily morning show..... Donald Trump has proposed a $350 million theme park to be built on the waterfront in Bridgeport, Conn. Plans for "Trump Park" include a theme park, specialty shops, restaurants and entertainment facilities..... A benefit concert to raise money to build the Keith Whitley

Memorial Music Hall was held in Sandy Hook, Ky., April 11th. About 800 people attended the event, which raised $3,500. Whitley, who was born in Sandy Hook, was 34 years old when he died of an alcohol overdose in 1989.

Cray Fills The State

Thanks to his performances before full houses on March 31st and April 1st, Robert Cray was the first recipient of the State Theatre's two-night sell-out plaque. (L-R) Cray is joined by the Portland, Maine theatre's executive director, Kelly Graves, and director of programming Stephen Bailey.

Pros On The Move

Andrew Waters has been named vice president of Greater Talent Network. He will represent the agency's roster to the financial industry and will broaden the firm's activities in the world of corporate musical entertainment. Waters spent the last ten years as a contemporary music agent at ICM and before that at ATI..... Brian Greenbaum has been promoted to agent in the West Coast music department at ICM. After spending three years as an assistant at Triad Artists, he joined ICM in 1992 where he worked as assistant to Andy Somers. Greenbaum will be the responsible agent for Failure and Melissa Ferrick. He also will book clubs and theatres in the Midwest and South Central regions..... MCA Records has promoted Angee Jenkins to national director of publicity for the label. She previously was the label's West Coast publicity director. MCA also has appointed Mitch Brody to manager, A&R. He previously was associate manager, talent acquisition, EMI Music Publishing.

Unusual Stuff

A&M Records will celebrate the 25th anniversary of Karen and Richard Carpenter's signing to the label with the release of an irreverent tribute by some unlikely alternative rock acts. Carpenters fans like Sonic Youth, Redd Kross, Shonen Knife, The Cranberries, Sheryl Crow, Babes in Toyland, American Music Club, Bettie Serveert, and Smashing Pumpkins will contribute cover versions of Carpenters songs. It isn't clear who will get the honor of doing "We've Only Just Begun." The album is slated for a fall release..... Barry Manilow happily gave up his suite at the Marquette Hotel in Minneapolis on April 8th so that President Clinton could stay there for the night. Clinton spent the day in Minneapolis to promote his health care reform plan. Administration officials told hotel staff not to move anyone or cause any other inconvenience because of the president's stay, but when the hotel told Manilow of the situation, he offered to stay at another hotel..... Linda McCartney was on hand at a Fairmont, Minn., factory on March 25th to launch her new line of frozen foods. "Linda McCartney's Home Style Cooking," which is a line of frozen meatless entrees, will hit store shelves on May 1st.

Disputed Resolution To Ticket Service Charge Tiff

A proposed settlement to an antitrust class action suit against Ticketmaster and BASS was announced late last month in San Francisco Superior Court, but a consumer action group reportedly is urging plaintiffs to reject it. Under the proposed settlement's terms, Ticketmaster and BASS acknowledge no fault, liability or wrongdoing, but agree to donate an estimated $1.5 million in tickets to charity (something they already do), according to the L.A. Times. Under the settlement, consumers would not be issued rebates, but the law firms representing the plaintiffs would stand to make up to $750,000 in legal fees. The director of San Francisco-based Consumer Action said that ticket-buyers are getting "burned big time by this settlement," and that it does nothing to lower convenience fees or address the issue of competition in the ticket service market. A Ticketmaster attorney said Consumer Action is basing its complaints on erroneous information filed by people with a "separate agenda" who have either been dismissed from the case or are bashing Ticketmaster for political gain. Consumers had until the end of last week to file petitions against the settlement with attorneys. The proposed settlement stems from a 1992 lawsuit alleging Ticketmaster and BASS conspired with California promoters and venue operators to fix the price of ticket service charges and limit competition.

Obituaries

James L. (Jimmy) Lyons, 78, who founded the Monterey Jazz Festival and managed it until he retired in 1992, died of a heart attack April 10th in San Luis Obispo, Calif. In 1958, he put together a bill of Dizzy Gillespie, The Modern Jazz Quartet, Billie Holiday, Dave Brubeck, Harry James and others for the first Monterey Jazz Festival..... Lee Brilleaux, 41, who sang and played guitar for the group Dr. Feelgood, died of cancer April 7th at his Canvey Island home, east of London. Brilleaux was the only remaining original member of the four-man band he founded in 1971, which had a hit in 1976 with the album Stupidity.

MOPHEAD: Betsy Nissen

It looks like, due to a bet I lost during SXSW to Mojo Nixon's twisted manager, I have to book a Mojo Nixon tour, with the New Duncan Imperials backing him. If I don't do this, Bullethead will release some compromising photos he supposedly has of me. So I need to call upon all my good buddies or anyone who wants to become my good buddy, to help me out and book this drunken #%@*#!, starting July 22nd in Texas and encompassing the Deep South & Midwest.

PIEDMONT TALENT: Steve Hecht

The months ahead will be quite busy as the newer additions to our roster get busy! Our newest addition Little Charlie & The Nightcats have West Coast avails in June and July. Look for Northwest dates in August. They will record their sixth Alligator CD this summer as well. /// Matt "Guitar" Murphy has fall avails east of the Rockies. After a busy year overseas with the Blues Brothers and with his own band, he will concentrate on domestic dates September 9 — November 8. /// Maria Muldaur has Northwest avails the first nine days in July, before heading through the Rockies and Midwest. She ends July in the Northeast. Look for Southwest and Southern dates in September after the release of her followup Black Top CD. /// Congrats to Johnny "Clyde" Copeland for his four W.C. Handy nominations. Scattered dates in July and August are open. His new CD "Catch Up With the Blues" is slated for a May release on PolyGram Verve. /// Sugar Blue has numerous summer avails in support of his "Blue Blazes" CD on Alligator. /// Jimmy Thackery & The Drivers have a new Blind Pig CD out in May. Late July and early August are open in the Midwest. /// Joanna Connor will spend much of the summer overseas, but has a few Midwest and Great Lakes dates open in June, and Colorado and Northwest avails in August.

FANTASMA TOURS: Bob Rossi

Congrats to Jay Black & The Americans for selling out Westbury Music Fair again on April 9th. This marks Jay's 10th sell-out in recent years, and he is booked back on October 9th. They tour all summer and are still available on July 2-4. /// KC & The Sunshine Band are enjoying a busy year touring the world with their 11 piece full band or newly formed track show with live vocals & percussion. They will team up with old pals Kool & the Gang in August for a "70's Spectacular" with special guest host Barry Williams aka Greg Brady from "The Brady Bunch." /// Melanie is celebrating her 25th anniversary with a recent "Today" show appearance, two new albums and a summer tour highlighted by her appearance at "Bethel '94" in August. /// Henry Gross, Bertie Higgins, and Firefall all have general avails.

COMMAND PERF.: Ben Carrizzo

After a one year break from touring, the Average White Band is accepting offers for June 17 — July 15. /// Comedian David Brenner has weekend avails beginning September 23rd. /// Comedian/impressionist Fred Travalena is accepting offers for casino and corporate dates. /// In addition, we are now booking Gloria Loring, whose most recent CD is "Is There Anybody Out There."

Between The Dates

The first draft of the 1994 SUMMER AMPHITHEATRE DATEBOOK provides a wealth of information on what's ahead this summer. This is shaping up to be the biggest year in the history of the concert industry and probably the busiest summer ever as well. With so many acts on the road at the same time, one way to try and avoid being a boxoffice casualty is to play it conservative by putting together a strong package of artists to entice fans. Metallica will be playing the sheds but has opened its wallet to add Danzig in the middle slot and Suicidal Tendencies as opener for its first leg. The Spin Doctors are going back out but they are bringing Gin Blossoms and Cracker to complement their draw. Elvis Costello has Crash Test Dummies as support, Bonnie Raitt and Bruce Hornsby are teaming together, while Jackson Browne is supported by John Hiatt. And then there are the package tours. In addition to Lollapalooza, there's also the Festival New Orleans, Blues Music Festival, H.O.R.D.E., and Southern Spirit tours. Steely Dan, Janet Jackson, Jimmy Buffett, Yes, Phil Collins, CSN, Daltrey Sings Townshend, Pearl Jam, Aerosmith, Michael Bolton, Steve Miller, the list seems endless. Hopefully the lines at ticket windows will as well..... Another box office record was set last week as 57,000 tickets were sold in twenty minutes for the Giants Stadium stop of the ELTON JOHN / BILLY JOEL tour. Three more shows were added and sold out on the same day. A fourth show was added and went on sale this past weekend..... The EAGLES have agreed to record a performance for MTV although its not presently being called an "unplugged" set. The group will tape shows April 25th and 26th at Warner Bros. Studios in Burbank and the final product will air on MTV sometime during the late summer. The rumor mill says that MELISSA ETHERIDGE will be in the opening slot for some as yet-to-be-announced Eagles dates in Miami, Orlando, Dallas, Houston and Austin..... The upcoming ROLLING STONES tour means a win-win situation for the folks at Camp Randall Stadium in Madison, Wisconsin. The University of Wisconsin's athletic department says CPI (along with Frank Productions and Belkin Production) has put down $42,500 as a non-refundable deposit to secure a two-week window at the stadium at the end of August..... EXTREME lead singer, Gary Cherone realized a life-long dream last week. He played and sang in the role of Jesus Christ in a local production of "Jesus Christ Superstar" which took place at the Middle East Music Cafe in Cambridge, Mass. A spokesperson for Andon Artists, Extreme's management, said that the singer was in love with the roll and had traveled across the country to see productions of the Andrew Lloyd Webber/Timothy Rice rock opera.
